Warden Ludwig Bethel reports under date of March 1, 1924, that cocoa nut plants can be purchased at 25¢ per plant (from 3 to 8 inches in size), plus the freight from the farm where they are for sale, which would be but a trifle. Larger plants would cost according to size. As large as should be transplanted, range from the price above mentioned to $1.50 per plant. Mr. Bethel believes that a 50¢ plant would be the proper size.

Australian pine plants can be obtained, already rooted, in small pots, 1 foot high, at 30¢ per plant.

Mr. Bethel recommends that the purchase and planting of these plants be deferred until after the nesting season as, he states, the birds and hot weather would greatly interfere with the work and the growth of the plants.

Hunting Fla
An island about 1/2 mile N.W. of Cape Sable is a great resort for birds. The island is up from mainland by a channel about 30 feet wide & 6 ft. deep at low tide.
The mullet, key has 2000000 on its main southern part but the N. part which extends 11/2 mi. long by 3/4 mi. wide is separated from the main channel island by a very narrow cut (left deep & so robust & wide). This has many breeding pelicans & frigate.
